1959 Class of Ballard-Hudson, Lanier and Miller High Schools Endowed Scholarship *

Awards are made annually to students pursuing a degree at Middle Georgia State University and who graduated from Bibb County's Central High School or Rutland High School. The fund was established by members of the classes of 1959 of Ballard-Hudson, Lanier and Miller high schools, the legacy schools of Central and Rutland. Kept segregated by race and gender in the 1950s, all three classes came together for the first time in 2009 for a single 50th anniversary class reunion. In commemoration and celebration of that milestone occasion, this scholarship was established, intended to leave a lasting social and financial legacy to future generations of Bibb County students.

A. Donald Faulk, Jr. Scholarship *

Provide a scholarship to a Middle Georgia State University student pursuing a bachelor's degree in healthcare administration from the Middle Georgia State University School of Health Sciences; first consideration is given to students pursuing a degree in healthcare administration. Established by Central Georgia Health System (CGHS), this scholarship commemorates Faulk's retirement from The Medical Center of Central Georgia (MCCG) with 39 years of service to The Medical Center of Central Georgia (MCCG), including 15 years as president and CEO. Under Faulk's leadership, the hospital achieved national recognition as an academic medical center, and was designated a Level 1 Trauma Center and Magnet® hospital for nurses. As a member of the Middle Georgia State University Foundation (now Middle Georgia State University Foundation) from 2001-2010, Faulk helped forge an ongoing partnership between the hospital and the college and facilitate significant contributions to benefit the college's School of Health Sciences, including an endowed nursing professorship and the Barbara J. Stickel Central Georgia Health System Endowed Presidential Scholarship in Nursing.

Addie Taylor Foskey Endowed Scholarship *

This award is made annually to a student who is admitted to the Middle Georgia State University School of Education and pursuing a degree in early childhood education. This scholarship was established by F. Dewayne Foskey, president of Children's Friend Learning Centers, to honor his mother, Addie Taylor Foskey. Because her family circumstances took priority over formal schooling, Mrs. Foskey never completed her own education; yet she instilled in her children her love for learning, and she taught by example the importance of helping and serving others.

Cowan, established the Gail Burdsall Cowan Scholarship.

Gannaway Memorial Aviation Scholarship

This award is provided for students enrolled full-time in any aviation certificate or degree program in flight technology in the School of Aviation at Middle Georgia State University, and are enrolled in classes leading to a pilot rating. The scholarship was established in memory of Edwin Craig Gannaway of Dublin by his wife Jackie. Mr. Gannaway began taking flying lessons in 1985, the fulfillment of a life-long dream, and later became an instructor pilot to build the hours required to apply for a commercial airline position. In 1988 he went to work as a First Officer for Atlantic Southeast Airlines (ASA), ultimately making captain, flying the Embraer Brasilia. In 1995 he was forced to make a crash landing in a field outside Carrollton, Ga., when the Brasilia he was piloting developed an engine problem that rendered it almost uncontrollable. Although Capt. Gannaway and nine passengers perished in the crash, 20 others survived. In recognition of his heroic attempt to save his aircraft and all onboard, he was posthumously awarded the prestigious Lt. Harold George Civilian Airmanship Award for 1995 by the National Order of Daedalians. The award recognized his exceptional piloting skill displayed in catastrophic flight conditions.

George & Maxine Lowery Scholarship *

Awards are made to students enrolled at Middle Georgia State University with demonstrated academic achievement. George T. Douglas Aircraft Structural Technology Scholarship

Awards are made to Middle Georgia State University students who are enrolled full-time in any aviation certificate or degree program in aviation structural technology, and who have completed a semester of program-specific courses. This scholarship was established in honor of George Douglas by his friends and co-workers. For more than 60 years Mr. Douglas was a gifted and creative aircraft sheet metal technician and instructor. He began his career in aircraft sheet metal at the age of 16, and in 1942, went to work for Wellston Army Air Depot (later known as Warner Robins Air Material Command and now known as Robins Air Force Base) in Warner Robins, Ga. During World War II, he served with the U.S. Army Air Corps, assigned to the 312th Fighter Wing at Perry Army Air Field before being transferred to Chanute Field in Illinois as a sheet metal instructor. Following the war, he returned to Warner Robins Air Material Command where he spent three decades working on B-29 aircraft overhaul, modifications and storage, installing Electronic Counter Measures equipment on B-29s, teaching aircraft battle damage repair techniques, and as part of the Rapid Aircraft Maintenance team that deployed worldwide to make repairs to critical combat aircraft. When he retired from federal service in 1980, he went to work as the swing shift maintenance supervisor for Zantop International Airlines in Macon. In 1990 he left Zantop to become an instructor at the Eastman training facility of Heart of Georgia Technical Institute, later known as Georgia Aviation Technical College and now known as Middle Georgia State University School of Aviation. Over the next 12 years until his retirement in 2002, Mr. Douglas trained many outstanding technicians; and, as part of a special project sponsored by Gov. Zell Miller, he and his students rebuilt the fuselage section of the "Sweet Eloise," a WWII B-29 aircraft, now on permanent display at Dobbins Air Force Base in Marietta.

Georgia Power Scholarship

This scholarship is awarded annually to a student pursuing a degree in business management. Georgia Power Company, a Southern Company, is one of the nation's largest generators of electricity. Georgia Power is an investor-owned, tax-paying utility, serving customers in 57,000 of Georgia's 59,000 square miles. Its 2 million customers are in all but six of Georgia's 159 counties.

Ginny Svonavec Memorial Scholarship

Awards are made to rising sophomores who are first generation college students. Preference is given to students who attend the Dublin Campus of Middle Georgia State University. This scholarship was established by Dr. Stephen Svonavec, faculty member and director of the Dublin Campus of Middle Georgia State University, in memory of his mother.

Gwendolyn Sell Sorrell Study Abroad Scholarship *

This scholarship is designated for Middle Georgia State University students participating in study abroad programs, who have a minimum 2.0 GPA, and have earned at least 30 credit hours. Preference is given to a student with financial need. Beginning in 1989, Dr. Gwendolyn Sell Sorrell developed and directed the study abroad program at Middle Georgia State College, now Middle Georgia State University, and twice taught in the Regents' Summer Study Abroad Program at Roehampton Institute in London. She agreed with John Keats, who said that through books we travel "in the lands of gold." She also insisted that our imaginary travels are richest when read within the context of real journeys. In her classrooms here and abroad, she expanded the minds and hearts of her students, whose worlds and understandings were significantly enlarged because of her teaching.

Hattie Elizabeth Wilder Scholarship *

This scholarship aids promising students in the art and science of nursing. It is awarded in honor of Hattie Elizabeth Wilder, an exceptionally gifted and diligent registered nurse, whose work among the sick was an inspiration to many.

James T. Bass, Jr. Memorial Scholarship

Special consideration for this award is given to students who demonstrate commitment to learning and devotion to the arts and public service. The Central Georgia community and the parents of James T. Bass, Jr., established this scholarship to honor Bass, an administrator at Macon Junior College, now Middle Georgia State University, from 1973 until 1987. At the time of his death in 1987, Bass was director of admissions. He was a respected community leader and a supporter of the arts.

Jay Ragland Memorial Endowed Scholarship *

This scholarship is awarded to a student at Middle Georgia State University with a GPA of 2.50 or higher who demonstrates a need for financial assistance. The award was established to honor the memory of Jay Ragland, son of Gloria R. and Jack H. Ragland. Jack Ragland served as an administrator at Middle Georgia State College, now Middle Georgia State University, from 1967 to 1998 and was interim president from 1984-1985.

Jeremy Christian Wearn Memorial Scholarship *

The scholarship is awarded to a rising junior or senior with at least a 3.2 GPA and demonstrated financial need who is pursuing a bachelor's degree in English at Middle Georgia State University. The scholarship is renewable for one year if the student continues to meet the requirements of the scholarship. This scholarship was established to honor the memory of Jeremy Christian Wearn who passed away at the age of 19. The son of Mary and Jay Wearn and brother of Jimmy and Jackson Wearn, Jeremy was a 2009 graduate of Brookwood High School and attended Georgia State University. Although Jeremy's life was brief, he will forever be remembered by those in whose hearts he dwells for his vibrant intellect, his keen sense of humor, and his quiet, gentle spirit.

Jessie S. and H. Grady Bradley Memorial Scholarship

An award is made annually to a Middle Georgia State University student in his/her junior or senior year majoring in science with a minimum GPA of 3.0. Preference is given to a student planning to teach science at the middle and/or high school level or in another science education field upon graduation. Dr. Carolyn Bradley established this scholarship to honor the memory of her parents. Following high school, Carolyn's mother, Jessie, taught in a one-room schoolhouse; later, she took a business course and became executive secretary at the Chamber of Commerce, followed by other secretarial positions over the years. As a railroad trainman, Carolyn's father worked extremely hard all his life to provide for his family. Having had to leave school after the eighth grade to work on the family farm, Grady Bradley said often, "Education is the one thing that no one can ever take away from you." Because Mr. and Mrs. Bradley made tremendous sacrifices to ensure their only daughter had the opportunities they did not, Carolyn received a B.A. in chemistry, M.S. in zoology, and doctorate in science education. She retired from Middle Georgia State College, now Middle Georgia State University, as associate professor of biology in 2006.

Jo Hammond Memorial Scholarship *

This award is renewable annually as long as the student is making satisfactory progress toward completion of the selected program of study and maintains a 2.0 or higher GPA. The scholarship was established to honor the memory of Jo Hammond, whose work at Macon Junior College, now Middle Georgia State University, was directed toward assisting nontraditional students in their pursuit of higher education. Hammond experienced first-hand the difficulties faced by nontraditional students, particularly women; when her three sons were teenagers and the oldest a college student, she returned to college herself to complete her undergraduate degree.
