

Requirements for the Baccalaureate Minor in Sustainability Policy Studies

The minor in sustainability policy studies is a broad program for students interested in pursuing a deeper understanding of environmental policies and their impact. Students will encounter cultural, economic, political and historical contexts for the examination of environmental sustainability policies. It may be pursued by students in any baccalaureate program, and would be particularly appropriate for students majoring in biology, business, new media and communications, or those interested in pursuing a career in politics or government, regardless of major.

Requirement	Course Taken	Term Passed	Grade
POLS 2201: State and Local Government			<input type="text"/>
POLS 3030: Introduction to Public Policy			<input type="text"/>
POLS 3944: Environmental Politics and Policy			<input type="text"/>
HIST 4040: Humans And Their Environment Since 1945			<input type="text"/>
Two of the following courses:
ECON 2105: Macroeconomics	<input type="text"/>		<input type="text"/>
ECON 3175: International Economics
HIST 4740: American Environmental History	<input type="text"/>		<input type="text"/>
IDS 4020: Science, Politics, and Culture

Middle Georgia State University, revised 2020-05-16
Requirements last revised in 2013–14 Undergraduate Catalog