Concerns

"Thank you sir for your consideration and I must say that I do apologize for the heated and tense appeal messages I had. I will say they were both done in the heat of the moment however I do truly appreciate the consideration and the opportunity to have my appeal heard and accepted and I have now followed through the proper channels." -Excerpt from a student appeal related to a policy violation.

3

Cases heard before student conduct panels; all cases were resolved with the professor or with a conduct officer or with residence life staff.

Highlights

- Due to COVID restrictions, all Student Conduct Board training was conducted virtually through D2L.
- Continued utilizing virtual options (Teams) in addition to face-to-face meetings to discuss adjudication options with students.
- 28.8% decrease in the number of reported academic infractions.
- Continued the strong collaboration with Residence Life to address alleged behavioral infractions in the residence halls, with more consistent reporting.

Student Life

Unit Purpose: To foster meaningful engagement outside of the classroom. Through programming, Student Life also challenges and encourages students as they establish their own identity and develop competence, purpose, and integrity.
